Dilly Gence Brings Feel-Good Hip Hop and Original Line Dance Energy to “Line em’ Up” Music Video

The song and music video invite people to move, laugh, and connect through music, humor, and community.

Los Angeles, CA, June 23, 2026 — Feel-good Hip Hop artist Dilly Gence is bringing music, movement, and community together with “Line em’ Up,” a new song and music video featuring its own original line dance.

Blending Hip Hop, humor, rhythm, and dance energy, “Line em’ Up” was created to invite people in. The song gives listeners a reason to step into the groove, while the music video turns that energy into a visual moment built around participation, movement, and connection.

“Line em’ Up” is not only a song. It has its own original line dance, making it a natural fit for dancers, community groups, morning shows, lifestyle programs, and anyone looking for a fun, feel-good way to bring people together.

A Today in Nashville segment showed how “Line em’ Up” works as an engaging on-air moment, with Dilly Gence joining the host for a short interview and dance demo. The segment highlighted how music and line dance can bring people together and create community.

“With ‘Line em’ Up,’ I wanted to create something exciting that people could dance to and share with each other,” said Dilly Gence. “Dilly Gence is about showing how Hip Hop can feel fun, welcoming, and connected to real people.”

For television, radio, digital, and community media outlets, the story offers a strong visual and interactive segment opportunity. Dilly Gence is available for interviews, in-studio appearances, virtual segments, clean music clips, and line dance demonstrations. A segment can include a short conversation about the song, a clip from the music video, and a simple “Line em’ Up” dance moment for hosts and viewers.

Dilly Gence is a feel-good Hip Hop artist whose music blends humor, rhythm, movement, and community. His work is profanity-free, accessible, and rooted in a playful, positive energy that celebrates joy, individuality, and everyday wisdom.

Media assets are available, including the “Line em’ Up” music video, Today in Nashville segment example, high-resolution photos, video stills, clean audio / music track, suggested interview questions, and segment notes.
